Caliber has entered open beta in Europe

March 31st, 2021 | Moscow, Russia — 1C Game Studios has announced the start of an open beta for Caliber in European countries, making available in English the full version of the game, its website and client. In addition, update 0.10.0, Contracts, came out for both versions of the game (Russian and English). It includes new content and improvements:

- a new Contracts system and a new Dam map;
- the Archives event plus the League of Fire Battle Pass which starts on April 7th;
- a new special forces unit and legendary outfits for the operators players already know;
- a spatial audio technology — sounds now take the map geometry into account;
- improvements to operator balance, PvE modes and much more.

“Version 0.10 has been expected for a long time, as it expands the reach of the project by inviting players from outside the CIS. With the Contracts update out, players — old and new alike — will visit a new map in the Zalessye setting, meet new operators from the Spanish unit EZAPAC and see interesting and convenient changes to the game. Spring is in full bloom in Caliber!” — says Andrey Shumakov, Caliber’s lead game designer.

Open beta in Europe is planned to last until Autumn of 2021.

About Caliber

Caliber is an online multiplayer third-person shooter. The gameplay is based on tactical cooperation between players who play as four operators belonging to different roles. Each operator has a unique set of abilities, weapons and special tools.

Starting January 27th, 2021, the rights to Caliber’s publishing have been fully transferred to 1C Game Studios. Before January of 2021 the developer worked with Wargaming for publishing.
